

Bartley R. Miller named principal of Sterling Risk Advisors

UGA Football letterman, Marist Football coach deeply involved in community

(ATLANTA) Bartley R. Miller, who has created one of Sterling Risk Advisors' fastest-growing client portfolios while dedicating extensive time to his community, has been named a Principal and is now in active ownership of the firm.

Miller's concentrated expertise is in Professional Liability in the healthcare arena, but he also offers insurance solutions for professionals, general commercial businesses, individuals and employee benefits.

Miller received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from the Terry College of Business at the University of Georgia, with a major in Risk Management and Insurance. While at the University of Georgia, he was a starting offensive lineman, three year letterman, and was named to the All SEC Academic Football Team.

While growing up in Atlanta, Bartley attended Holy Innocents' Episcopal School through Middle School and then went on to graduate from The Marist School.

Miller is dedicated to giving back to his community through motivational speaking to youth groups, educational groups and athletic teams. His passion for football still burns bright as a part-time assistant football coach at The Marist School, since 2007.

Also highly-involved in his church community, Miller attends Peachtree Road United Methodist Church and has served as a facilitator in its Disciple I program.

He is married to the former Allyson Nichols of Dunwoody, and they have one son, John.
